Group Climb To New Heights With Bright Future Ahead

by Jake D

Local Scout Troop 1st Chilwell and Attenborough have been going from strength to strength since the outbreak of COVID-19 forced them to stop their weekly in person meetings.

Since the start of the UK national lockdown, the Troop who prepare young people in the Beeston area with Skills For Life, have adapted their programme to provide an amazing set of opportunities through Zoom meetings and, more recently, with small, socially distanced groups at their hut. With high hopes pinned on the promising news of a potential vaccine, many are looking forward to the day when Scouts can return to sleeping under canvas, none more than the parents who can't wait for a peaceful night.

I have a lot of stuff to say about this camp, but I want to keep it brief, so I'll tell you the best part about it. Me and my friends found a little place in the woods where we found some rope and tied it to a big stick to make a park safe because there were so many of them. We were outnumbered by another Cub group who didn't want to happen. That's why family camp wanted to play on our park. They did end up playing with us on our park and it turned out as we thought. They pretended the beam friendly way.

I'm going to sabotage the winners' tents in the next Scout competition. That will take them down a peg or two.

How many Scouts does it take to change a light bulb? One. But it takes a few days because they are told to do one good turn every day. Why doesn't Santa have to keep an eye on all of the Scouts to find out if they have been good this year? Because they are always on his knotty list.

Why are socks like Scouts? They always come paired.

My son was worried about going to his Scout meeting for the first time. I told him there was knotting to be worried about.
